

Realtime captioning can be fun, especially when a whole team of court reporters get together to caption a service at New Life Church in Milton, Ontario, every Sunday at 10:00 am. We have a common goal of wanting to make a difference. We want to give something back, whether it is to someone who is deaf/hard of hearing or to another court reporter or student who is interested in learning how to realtime caption in a religious setting. Combine that with a church that has a vision that all persons with a hearing loss should be able to attend a church service and "hear" what is being said, and it is amazing what can be accomplished!
